The Ultimate Sexy Christmas Gift

In the lead up to the season to be merry, some couples despair of finding a sexy Christmas gift, whether it is a gift for him or a gift for her.

A body casting is a very unique possibility for those that want to go a little further than most when it comes to sexy Christmas gifts.

Body casting is the process of taking a mould of a favourite body part and casting it into a piece of fine art sculpture. Hands, torso, back, bottom, breasts and face can all be cast and prices start from as little as $150.

Artist and owner of Body Casting Sydney, Justin Robson, said body casting has been used by artisans for thousands of years and is gaining popularity with contemporary artists who are rediscovering this intimate and personal art form.

“Although these personalised erotic sculptures may stimulate and tantalise, they are subtle and tasteful. They can be mounted in a lounge room or any other public area as fine art pieces in their own right.

“My customers are always amazed at the beautiful shape of their bodies when replicated into stone. The sculpture brings to them a new appreciation of their curves.”
